McLHENNY--KING REUNION

LARGE GATHERING AT GREAT CONOWAGO PRESB. CHURCH.

A Permanent Organization Effected and Plans Laid for Reunion Next Year.

The gathering of the descendants of Robert McLhenney and Victor King on last Saturday proved to be a very unique and delightful occasion. The event was the inspiration of Wm. A. McLhenney of this place. With the assistance of Miss Annie H. Majors of town, invitations were sent out to every known descendant of the two families. The day was a perfect one and 161 descendants gathered at the old Kirk of their fathers, the Greater Conowago Presbyterian Church near Hunterstown. They came not only from the county, but from all parts of the country in autos and conveyances. The call had the notes of the bagpipe that rallied them to the gathering of the clans.

This family reunion represented two of the oldest families in the Tyrone-Straban section of the county. In 1735 three brothers, Victor, James and William King are the first settlers on one side of the Great Conowago Creek and in 1745 Robert McLhenney is the first settler on the opposite bank of the creek. These sturdy pioneers had to fight the Indians and Victor King is a Lieutenant in a company raised in this section by Thomas Hamilton. When the war of the Revolution comes these original settlers furnished sons for the cause of freedom. Robert McLhenney and Hugh King becoming lieutenants of companies with other brothers in the ranks. The ties of country, of a common defense are further cemented by ties of blood. Lt. Robert McLhenney marrying Martha King and his brother Wm. McLhenney marrying Agnes King, daughters of Victor King and their sister Ann McLhenney marrying William King, son of James King. Descendants of all three and other branches were present.

The lecture room of the church was used for a dining hall and the long tables were more than twice filled before the feasting was at an end. A delicious dinner was served, one of those kind with everything to be thought of to put everyone in the best of humor with the world and specially his or her kinsfolk.

After dinner the gathering was photographed in front of the church. All were invited into the church to help to form a permanent organization of the McLhenney-King descendants. Hon. Samuel Knox of Germantown called the meeting to order and Rev. Geo. F. Baker, pastor of the church, invoked the divine blessing on the gathering. Mr. Knox then stated that he was prepared to entertain a motion for a permanent president and believed the honor should be given to the one who had made possible the delightful gathering, and Wm. A. McLhenney of this place, was unanimously chosen president.

Mr. McLhenney, in taking the chair, made a short speech expressive of his thanks. The other officers chosen were Miss Annie H. Majors, secretary, and Hugh McLhenney treasurer. The president cleverly suggested that the feelings of some present might be hurt if they were not asked to help defray the expenses and a collection was taken up and liberally responded to.

An executive committee of five was authorized and named, R. K. Majors of Straban, Wm. B. McLhenney of Gettysburg, James McLhenney of Knoxlynn, Miss Ann McLhenney and James F. Bell.

A committee on history was next authorized and named, Victor King McLhenney of New York City, Wm. A. McLhenney of Harrisburg, S. M. Knox of Germantown, Miss Fannie Bell of Hunterstown and Prof. Franklin Menges of York.

Prof. Menges addressed the gathering giving data of the first land grant to Robert McLhenney and other matters of family history. Wm. A. McLhenney of Harrisburg gave history of his branch of the family, the connecting link with the Adams county family being now unknown. Victor King McLhenney of near Pittsburg was present and an interesting statement he had prepared was read by Miss Annie H. Majors. Further remarks were made by Victor King McLhenney of New York City, Wm. Arch. McClean and Prof. Menges.

Two antiques attracted much attention, an old piece of furniture of Violet King, loaned by the Bell family, and the old collection box of the Kirk, a "quar" affair marked 1778.

Enthusiastic unanimity was given to the proposition to make the gathering an annual affair.

Those present from a distance were Miss Rebecca McLhenney of Cleveland, O., George A. Shower and daughter, Miss Cecelia, of Manchester, Md., Stewart McLhenney of Harrisburg, Mr. and Mrs. Victor King McLhenney, Jr., of New York City, Victor King McLhenney, Sr., of Munhall, Pa., and his daughter Miss Mary S., of Pittsburg, Mr. and Mrs. S. Russell Bayly of Baltimore, Md., Mr. and Mrs. James S. Gordon of Waynesboro, Mrs. Martha W. Craighead and son James B., of Carlisle, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Albert McLhenney of Harrisburg, Mr. and Mrs. Alex. McLhenney of Penbrook, Pa., Mrs. Jennie J. Wilson and Mrs. Amelia E. Snively of Penbrook, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Lingle of Linglestown, Pa., H. L. Cobean of Wellington, Kan., Mr. and Mrs. Chas. A. Sefton and Mr. and Mrs. S. F.

Dunkle of Harrisburg, Mr. and Mrs. John K. McLhenney and daughter of Steelton, Prof. and Mrs. Frank Menges and their children of York, Mrs. G. A. Chalfant of Pittsburg, Mrs. Allen Kirkpatrick of Braddock, Mrs. Jane M. R. Plank of Carlisle, Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Knox and daughter of Germantown, and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Knox and daughter of Wilmington.

In addition to various branches of the McLhenney and King families there were present from this county representatives of many other families related by blood and marriage, the Bell, Majors, Horner, Knox, Scott, McGaughy, Cobean, Boyer, Taughnbaugh, Dickson, Weaver, Gladhill, Sifton, Kerr, Lott, Hare, and Fidler.

Foot Ball Season Begins

The Gettysburg college football team met a very creditable defeat on last Saturday, at hands of the team of the University of Pennsylvania on Franklin field, Philadelphia. The home team had less than the usual chance at practice, it being the first game away from home, as well as the first game with any team. The good material of the home team is shown by the small score of 20 to 0 made against them. 17 points of the game was made in the first half, while the Gettysburg team was new to the situation, and consisted three touch downs by Penn., with goal kicked twice. When the Gettysburg team got itself in hand for hard fighting in the second half, they prevented any scoring except the three points made by a field goal.

The Gettysburg town team played the strong Littlestown team on Saturday afternoon, the score being 10-0.

Court House Pavement Started Charles E. Lady on Monday began the work of putting down a cement pavement at the Court House. The first work was at the heavy granite steps in front. They had gotten out of position and had to be raised and straightened and the two large heavy side pieces were placed on cement foundations. The pavement on Middle Street and portion on Baltimore Street constantly in use have been out of repairs and practically worn out for years, being full of holes and in wet weather a string of puddles. The town authorities notified the County Commissioners that a new pavement was needed and the Commissioners believing it to be their duty to comply with all legal requirements ordered the work to be done.

Burglars Enter Cashtown Post-Office The Cashtown post-office and D. A. Mickleby store were broken into early last Friday morning. Entrance was gained by boring a large number of holes through the lower part of the door with an auger, and separating door from its lower hinges. The burglars secured less than $3, two pairs of shoes and a few other articles. It was evident that they were after money and it is believed the work was not that of professionals as no attempt was apparent on the large safe which contained money and stamps.

Educational Meeting.

The first Educational Meeting of the Teachers' Rally of Cumberland township was held Friday evening, September 24th, at Fairplay school. H. Bream, teacher.

A very interesting and instructive program was presented. The meeting was called to order by the President. Before transacting the business of the meeting all participated in singing America. Owing to the absence of the Secretary Mary Rudisill was elected pro tem. Then followed the reading and accepting of the constitution of the Rally. The president then read a letter sent to the Rally by the county Superintendent, Prof. Roth.

After the business was transacted Mr. Bream welcomed the teachers and patrons to the meeting. He stated that the object of the meeting held by the Teachers' Rally was to bring the patrons in closer relation with the school and to promote the educational interest of the teachers. The regular order of the program was then followed which consisted of singing, three topics that were discussed by the teachers and recitations by the pupils of the school.

The first topic discussed, "What do you understand by being thorough?" was ably discussed by Miss Mary Bream and Miss Edith Mickleby. The discussion was opened by Miss Bream saying, "The school is a place of living agency, the teacher should have a thorough knowledge of the subjects she is teaching, and a teacher should never use notes in class." The second speaker, Miss Mickleby, said: "The three principles necessary for the advancement of the education of a child, unity, thoroughness and spirit of inquiry. A person may be thorough in one place and not in another. The teacher may also be thorough in one subject and not in another, but we may become more thorough by knowing all the subjects." The subject being generally discussed. Professor H. M. Roth said he sometimes wished everything could be learned as thoroughly as the multiplication tables, but much which is taught to the child is not remembered and sometimes it is good that it is not, as for instance, if a child gives the following definition for the predicate of a sentence: "The predicate of a sentence is that of which something is said." He said a teacher should be able to go before some of the classes without text books. But she should always know what is in the lesson and the important parts that she wants to emphasize. The teacher should always have some aim in view when teaching a class. She should put all the interest in the lesson. Get the child interested to ask questions during the recitation.

The second topic, "My Ideal Country School," was discussed by John Black and Miss Laura Raffesperger. The former saying his Ideal Country School was to have a school building in the centre of the township and then have the schools graded. But as we do not have this we should try to make our district schools ideal. To have an ideal country school the teacher should be backed by the Board of Directors and patrons who are interested in school work. The teacher should have educational qualities and discipline. Parents do wrong by sending their children to the district school under six years of age. He urged that children remain in the district school until they are qualified to take the examination for a diploma issued by the County Superintendent.

Miss Raffesperger was not present but her essay was read by Mr. Appler. She said that there are many ideals of country schools. The needs of our schools is closer supervision. The directors should visit the schools once a month. She emphasized that care should be taken in selecting grounds for school buildings.

The subject opened for discussion, Mr. Stultz gave some very good points on the Ideal School, saying that the word ideal had a very broad meaning, and that each teacher should try to find what an Ideal school is, and follow that. Speaking of thoroughness he said, Many of the failures are caused by the lack of thoroughness.

The last topic discussed was "Primary Reading," Mary Rudisill opened discussion saying much of the educational development of a child depends on the way in which it is started in reading. A child should be taught to read well when young. Her method for teaching primary reading was the word method.

Miss Mable Bollinger said the subject, Primary Reading, is being discussed by the educational men of today. The child should not be allowed to read in any manner, but so that its reading will be expressive.

Then Prof. H. M. Roth gave a short talk, stating the value of the word method to that of the A B C method. A child can be taught a hundred words in less time than it can be taught the A B C's, because when a child is taught a word it means something to it, but a letter means nothing. It is better to have the object in sight when the word is taught as it will make an impression on the mind of the child, and will remember it better. Teachers should try to teach the child two new words a day, and then have a list of all the words taught on the blackboard, taking frequent reviews of them.

After singing good night the meeting adjourned. The next one to be held at Pitzer's school, October 15, Miss Mickleby, teacher.

S. S. District Convention. Sunday School Convention of the 3rd District of Adams county will be held at Mt. Joy Lutheran church, Oct. 3rd, 1909. Fortune Telling

Does not take into consideration the one essential to woman's happiness—womanly health.
The woman who neglects her health is neglecting the very foundation of all good fortune. For without health love loses its lustre and gold is but dross.
Womanly health when lost or impaired may generally be regained by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

This Prescription has, for over 40 years, been curing delicate, weak, pain-wracked women, by the hundreds of thousands and this too in the privacy of their homes without their having to submit to indelicate questionings and offensively repugnant examinations.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter free. All correspondence held as sacredly confidential. Address World's Dispensary Medical Association, R. V. Pierce, M. D., President, Buffalo, N. Y.
Dr. Pierce's GREAT FAMILY DOCTOR BOOK, The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, newly revised up-to-date edition—1000 pages, answers in Plain English hosts of delicate questions which every woman, single or married, ought to know about. Sent free, in plain wrapper to any address on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to cover mailing only, or in cloth binding for 31 stamps.

Governors of Pennsylvania

WILLIAM FISHER PACKER—1858-1861.

Another newspaper man to become governor of Pennsylvania was William Fisher Packer, born in 1807 in Center county. At the age of thirteen years he began to learn the printing trade in the office of the Public Inquirer at Sunbury. Mr. Packer began the study of law in 1827, but later returned to newspaper work, becoming editor of the Lycoming Gazette, published at Williamsport. He afterward helped to establish the Keystone at Harrisburg and remained in that city until 1841. He was defeated for senator in 1836. In 1847 he was elected to the house of representatives and was made speaker. He was re-elected in 1848, and in the following year he defeated Andrew G. Curtin for the state senate. He was the Democratic candidate for governor in 1857 and was elected over two other candidates, David Willmot and Isaac Hazelhurst. After retiring from office he spent the remainder of his days in Williamsport.

The Patriotism Of Penelope.

By VIRGINIA BLAIR.

Copyrighted, 1909, by Associated Literary Press.

"A man who can vote and won't vote ought to be made to vote," said Penelope dramatically.

"Of course if you feel that way," Oswald Deering said stily.

"Every woman should feel that way"—Penelope's scornful little nose was in the air—"and every man. The welfare of the country depends on it." "I'm not so sure"—Deering was fast becoming aggressive—"that a woman knows."

And then Penelope blazed. "Of course"—becoming aggressive—"that a woman ought not to dabble in such things. But the blood of my ancestors is in me. All of my grandfathers were in the Revolution and in the war of 1812. My father served with honor in the civil war and my brothers in the Spanish war. How can I help feeling that the men who wouldn't fight were"—She stopped.

Oswald was very pale. "I know what you were going to say—that because I didn't fight I was a coward."

Something in the stillness of his anger frightened Penelope.

"I didn't mean"—she faltered.

"Yes, you did," he told her. "You meant that I was a coward because I didn't go to the war when your brothers did. But there were reasons."

"There are always reasons," she dashed out. "You may now say there are reasons why you are not going to vote tomorrow."

"Well, I don't think you could understand if I told you, Penelope."

She stood up and faced him. "Oh," she said, and her little figure in the clinging mauve gown was drawn up to its full height—"oh, I always thought that you put women on a low place, Oswald, and now I know it."

"It isn't that," he said doggedly. "But I think I ought not to be made to explain my reason for not voting. It involves some one else. I shall stay away from the polls tomorrow as a matter of conscience, Penelope."

Her little nose was buried in the bunch of violets he had brought her.

"I don't think it is worth arguing about," she said at last wearily as she lifted her head from the flowers. "But I really think we couldn't be happy if we feel so differently."

"You mean"—He had risen and was standing beside her.

"I mean that—that I think we have made a mistake."

"Then you won't marry me, Penelope?"

"I have never said that I would, Oswald."

"No, but you gave me hope. You knew that I thought"—

Before his accusing eyes her own dropped.

"But I never really said 'Yes,'" she whispered.

"Perhaps not. But I understood that it was because you wanted to be sure." His voice broke, and then all at once he gathered himself together and, with his head held high, said sternly, "Don't talk of a man's allegiance to his country, Penelope, when you have failed in your allegiance to your love."

"I don't love you," she began, but he interrupted her. "You do. You know you love me, Penelope. But don't down in your heart you don't trust me. And I don't want that kind of love. I want the love of a woman who believes in me."

She was staring at him in a dazed way. "Then—then—good-by," she quivered.

He came over and took both of her hands in his. "Oh, little Penelope," he said, "why can't you trust me?"

Her lips quivered. "Why can't you tell me," she demanded tearfully, "why you won't vote, Oswald?"

He hesitated and then shook his head. "No; it's a matter best left undiscussed. Perhaps some day you'll see things differently."

Her chin was raised mutinously. "I shall always love my country, Oswald."

"And I shall always love you." And with that he was gone.

Left alone, she wondered if it was true. Surely in a little while Oswald would be back begging her to forgive him.

But the next day came, and the men gathered at the polls, and Penelope's father and his sons went out to vote as the men of their family had done before them for conscience and for country, and at dinner they toasted their favorite candidate in water from their own clear spring, and their father made a little speech. "We have all been fighters," he said, "and I hope I shall never have a son or a grandson to break our record."

And Penelope, thinking of Oswald, winced. What place had he among these men of war?

But when the feasting was over her youngest brother, Bruce, said, "I've always felt that there was no force like the force of arms, but I tell you I heard something about Oswald Deering today that made me believe in a new kind of courage."

"What was it?" they demanded.

"Well, the nurse who takes care of Oswald's mother told me when I was waiting in Oswald's office today. It seems that his father was killed in the civil war and that since then his mother has been very delicate."

"When the first news of fighting in Cuba came Oswald was wild to go, but she opposed it strongly, and at last, when she found that his mind was made up, she had a heart attack that nearly killed her. So Oswald stayed at home and studied medicine, but he has never really got over his disappointment."

Penelope's father brought his hand down on the table with a bang. "But he should have gone at his country's call," and Penelope's eyes flashed.

"And have killed his mother?" Bruce asked quietly. For a moment the older man was silent, and then he said, "It was a test of patriotism, but the boy did the right thing."

Penelope leaned across the table and asked an eager question, but only her mother knew of her real interest and why her cheeks were pale and her eyes shadowed.

"But—but do you know the reason why Oswald didn't vote?" she demanded.

THE STANDARD OF THE WORLD

A MARYLAND EDITOR VISITS

GETTYSBURG AND TELLS OF THE PLEASURE OF HIS TRIP

In his Paper, the Hampstead Enterprise—How Others See Us.

Last week we spent a few days at Gettysburg, on business, and passed several hours in the Adams County Court House with J. G. Slonaker, the popular and efficient county treasurer and others of the "unwashed and unlettered," for it must be remembered that Adams county is one of those strange settings, a Democratic county in Pennsylvania, and be it said to the credit of the officials, a clean county, too.

We also met some grand old Republicans of the old guard—men who were in the heat of the battle that was waged there some forty-six years ago. Among them was Marcus J. Hamilton. Mr. Hamilton is one of the kind who fought in the front ranks during the war and when the war was over, quit fighting and now takes pleasure in grasping the hand of the worthy foe who wore the gray.

They have a streetcar line at Gettysburg that makes the round of the great battlefield every hour and several times during our stay, we made the trip with Mr. Hamilton as our companion. He knows every foot of the vast area over which mighty armies struggled, advancing, retreating, taking a position and then abandoning it, each time leaving on the gory field many of America's bravest and best men.

Of course in a hurried trip like this we could get but little of the details of the battle nor even glance at the hundreds of monuments that stand like grim sentinels over the once bloody field. Many of the houses still stand as they did during that terrible slaughter when over 10,000 brave men gave up their lives and hundreds of thousands bore from the field the ghastly tokens of war. Those houses that were standing during the three days battle, bear the marks of shot and shell, and even here and there a panel of board fence shows the path of deadly missiles.

Far away to the west, hazily outlined against the horizon, the Blue Ridge still keeps its vigils. Big and Little Round Top, Culp's Hill and other eminences rise above the valleys and are decorated with many monuments. Plum Run still winds its way between the Round Top and Wheat field, but today it flows tranquilly through Death Valley glimmering like a thread of silver under the slanting September sun. Forty-six years ago it glowed crimson with the blood of the dying or wounded who sought its welcome waters to cleanse their wounds or to lie down and die upon its mossy banks, dreaming in death's delirium of raging battles or of the home that this day's work would make desolate.

Details are tedious. Volumes have been written about this great battle, virtually the turning point in the war, but all has not been written and never can be. As years pass by more facts develop, more monuments spring magic-like from the soil and a united nation walks hand in hand over the field where once its bravest and noblest sons met in battle array and fought as never mortals fought since first the flight of time began.

Surprise Party.

A very enjoyable surprise party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Snyder of near Yeast's Store on Wednesday eve, Sept. 15, in honor of their daughter Helen's birthday.

The evening was spent in playing games, music, and social conversation. Mr. Harry Snyder and son Lloyd furnished the music with their violins which was much appreciated by all. At a reasonable hour all were invited to the dining table which was set upon the lawn and laden with all the delicacies of the season to which they all did ample justice. After which they all departed for their respective homes, wishing Miss Helen many more such happy occasions. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Howard Snyder, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Sentz, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Deatrice, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Snyder, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Bair, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Breighner, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. C. O. WHEN HER BACK ACHES.

A Woman Finds All Her Energy and Ambition Slipping Away.

Gettysburg women know how the aches and pains that come when the kidneys fail make life a burden. Backache, hip pains, headaches, dizzy spells, distressing urinary troubles, all tell of sick kidneys and warn you of the stealthy approach of diabetes, dropsy and Bright's disease. Doan's Kidney Pills permanently cure all these disorders. Here's proof of it in a Gettysburg woman's words:

Mrs. John Menchey, 46 Breckenridge St., Gettysburg, Pa., says: "I have always been nervous and in poor health and recently when an attack of kidney trouble came on, I was unable to work. I suffered from severe pains in my back and I also had chills. A friend advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills and I procured a box at the People's Drug Store. They restored my health and I am now in a better condition than before in a long time. I give Doan's Kidney Pills the credit for this improvement."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

The Explorer's Wooing.

Oh, come with me to the Arctic Seas,
Where the blizzards and icebergs grow,
And dally awhile with the polar breeze
In the land of the Eskimo.
We will fish for seal and the great white bears
In their caves on the frozen shores;
We will spread our nets in the frigid lairs.
Of the walrus that snorts and roars.

When the rest of creation swoons with heat,
All pleasant and chipper we'll be;
'T would be hard to find a summer retreat
As cool as the Arctic Sea.
We will ramble along in some snowy glade
With never a sultry sigh,
Or loiter at ease in the grateful shade
Of an iceberg four miles high.

So come with me to the Arctic Pole—
To the land of the walrus and bear,
Where the glaciers wave and the blizzards roll,
And victuals are frequently rare,
You are plump and fat—with such a mate
In my iceberg I could dwell
In the pleasing hope I could baffle fate
By eating you au naturel.

COMING OUT PARTY.

CASHTOWN, Sept. 20.—The Cash-town Civic League gave a Coming Out Party at the home of Miss Mary Jones on Thursday evening, September 9th. The President, Mrs. William R. CANDIDATES ON STATE TICKET

When the voters of the county begin to study the ballot to be voted for at the coming election, they should bear in mind the three paragraphs in the speech of the Temporary Chairman of the last Democratic State convention, descriptive of the characters of the candidates nominated, and if they measure up to the proposed standard why not give them a hearty whole souled support. These paragraphs were:

"We shall name for the office of State Treasurer a worthy successor to the only Treasurer of Pennsylvania, within the memory of living men, who was able or willing to uncover the fraud and crime, which for generations past have marked the Republican administration of the State's Affairs.

"We shall nominate for Auditor General a man who, if elected, will never account to the people for his stewardship at the bar of a criminal court.

"We shall place before the people as a fit aspirant for a seat on the bench of the Supreme Court, a jurist whose name people can pronounce, and whose decisions the bar of Pennsylvania can defend."

THE COUNTY TICKET.

The Democratic party at the primaries selected a ticket which should have the enthusiastic and unqualified support of every Democrat, for it is in accord with the Democratic principles of good government. This ticket was nominated by the will of the majority and this majority that nominates and elects should ever be respected and supported by every Democrat, for it is the voice of the people. When a ticket so named contains the names of good, clean, honorable citizens, who have lived useful lives, every Democrat should become an active agent to assure their election at the polls.

LAST DAY TO PAY TAX OCT. 1

The last day to pay taxes to qualify a voter to cast a ballot at the election in November is on Friday, October 1st. No one who has not paid a tax within two years is entitled to cast a vote, and every young man who voted on age last fall must pay a tax this year to be able to cast a ballot. There are countries where taxes are collected with a big stick to keep an extravagant aristocracy in idleness. But in this land of the free taxes are paid to place in the hands of every elector a big stick in the shape of a ballot, to say who shall run the people's government and it is up to every elector to cast his ballot for those who will economically and faithfully administer the affairs of the people. See that your taxes are paid so that you may be eligible to vote.

Famous Chairs Come to Town.

H. O. Himes of this place has bought from Samuel Trimmer, of York, the famous Barton or Batwell chairs, eight in number, six without arms and two with and of the Chippendale make. They are considered rare specimens with an authentic history. Rev. Thomas Barton came as missionary from England to Christ church, Huntington township, near York Springs in 1753, bringing the chairs with him. A successor as pastor of the church was Rev. David Batwell, who became owner of chairs, and in the Revolution period he was such a royalist that he returned to England and his furniture was left with a Collins family, and six of the chairs when sold were bought by the late Dr. D. McC. White of Hampton. Mr. Trimmer after acquiring these six chairs located two others, one with a Mr. Wherley and it is said it cost Mr. Trimmer about $600 to become owner of the full set which have now become the property of H. O. Himes.

PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION SUBMITTED TO THE CITIZENS OF THIS COMMONWEALTH FOR THEIR APPROVAL OR REJECTION, BY THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA, AND PUBLISHED BY ORDER OF THE SECRETARY OF THE COMMONWEALTH, IN PURSUANCE OF ARTICLE XVIII. OF THE CONSTITUTION.

A JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing amendments to sections eight and twenty-one of article four, sections eleven and twelve of article five, sections two, three, and four of article eight, section one of article twelve, and sections two and seven of article fourteen, of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, and providing a schedule for carrying the amendments into effect.

Section 1. Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, That the following are proposed as amendments to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in accordance with the provisions of the eighteenth article thereof:

Amendment One—To Article Four, Section Eight.

Section 2. Amend section eight of article four of the Constitution of Pennsylvania which reads as follows:—

"He shall nominate and, by and with the advice and consent of two-thirds of all the members of the Senate, appoint a Secretary of the Commonwealth and an Attorney General during pleasure, a Superintendent of Public Instruction for four years, and such other officers of the Commonwealth as he is or may be authorized by the Constitution or by law to appoint; he shall have power to fill all vacancies that may happen, in offices to which he may appoint, during the recess of the Senate, by granting commissions which shall expire at the end of their next session; he shall have power to fill any vacancy that may happen, during the recess of the Senate, in the office of Auditor General, State Treasurer, Secretary of Internal Affairs or Superintendent of Public Instruction, in a judicial office, or in any other elective office which he is or may be authorized to fill; if the vacancy shall happen during the session of the Senate, the Governor shall nominate to the Senate, before their final adjournment, a proper person to fill said vacancy; but in any such case of vacancy, in an elective office, a person shall be chosen to said office at the next general election, unless the vacancy shall happen within three calendar months immediately preceding such election, in which case the election for said office shall be held at the second succeeding general election. In acting on executive nominations the Senate shall sit with open doors, and, in confirming or rejecting the nominations of the Governor, the vote shall be taken by yeas and nays, and shall be entered on the journal," so as to read as follows:—

He shall nominate and, by and with the advice and consent of two-thirds of all the members of the Senate, appoint a Secretary of the Commonwealth and an Attorney General during pleasure, a Superintendent of Public Instruction for four years, and such other officers of the Commonwealth as he is or may be authorized by the Constitution or by law to appoint; he shall have power to fill all vacancies that may happen, in offices to which he may appoint, during the recess of the Senate, by granting commissions which shall expire at the end of their next session; he shall have power to fill any vacancy that may happen, during the recess of the Senate, in the office of Auditor General, State Treasurer, Secretary of Internal Affairs or Superintendent of Public Instruction, in a judicial office, or in any other elective office which he is or may be authorized to fill; if the vacancy shall happen during the session of the Senate, the Governor shall nominate to the Senate, before their final adjournment, a proper person to fill said vacancy; but in any such case of vacancy, in an elective office, a person shall be chosen to said office on the next election day appropriate to such office, according to the provisions of this Constitution, unless the vacancy shall happen within two calendar months immediately preceding such election day, in which case the election for said office shall be held on the second succeeding election day appropriate to such office. In acting on executive nominations the Senate shall sit with open doors, and, in confirming or rejecting the nominations of the Governor, the vote shall be taken by yeas and nays, and shall be entered on the journal.

Amendment Two—To Article Four, Section Twenty-one.

Section 3. Amend section twenty-one of article four, which reads as follows:—

"The term of the Secretary of Internal Affairs shall be four years; of the Auditor General three years; and of the State Treasurer two years. These officers shall be chosen by the qualified electors of the State at general elections. No person elected to the office of Auditor General or State Treasurer shall be capable of holding the same office for two consecutive terms," so as to read:—

The terms of the Secretary of Internal Affairs, the Auditor General, and the State Treasurer shall each be four years; and they shall be chosen by the qualified electors of the State at general elections; but a State Treasurer, elected in the year one thousand nine hundred and nine, shall serve for three years, and his successors shall be elected at the general election in the year one thousand nine hundred and twelve, and in every fourth year thereafter. No person elected to the office of Auditor General or State Treasurer shall be capable of holding the same office for two consecutive terms.

Amendment Three—To Article Five, Section Eleven.

Section 4. Amend section eleven of article five, which reads as follows:—

"Except as otherwise provided in this Constitution, justices of the peace or aldermen shall be elected in the several wards, districts, boroughs and townships, by the qualified electors thereof, in such manner as shall be directed by law, and shall be commissioned by the Governor for a term of five years. No township, ward, district or borough shall elect more than two justices of the peace or aldermen without the consent of a majority of the qualified electors within such township, ward or borough; no person shall be elected to such office unless he shall have resided within the township, borough, ward or district for one year next preceding his election. In cities containing over fifty thousand inhabitants, not more than one alderman shall be elected in each ward or district," so as to read:—

Except as otherwise provided in this Constitution, justices of the peace or aldermen shall be elected in the several wards, districts, boroughs or townships, by the qualified electors thereof, at the municipal election, in such manner as shall be directed by law, and shall be commissioned by the Governor for a term of six years. No township, ward, district or borough shall elect more than two justices of the peace or aldermen without the consent of a majority of the qualified electors within such township, ward or borough; no person shall be elected to such office unless he shall have resided within the township, borough, ward or district for one year next preceding his election. In cities containing over fifty thousand inhabitants, not more than one alderman shall be elected in each ward or district.

Amendment Four—To Article Five, Section Twelve.

Section 5. Amend section twelve of article five of the Constitution, which reads as follows:—

"In Philadelphia there shall be established, for each thirty thousand inhabitants, one court, not of record, of police and civil causes, with jurisdiction not exceeding one hundred dollars; such courts shall be held by magistrates whose term of office shall be five years and they shall be elected on general ticket by the qualified voters at large; and in the election of the said magistrates no voter shall vote for more than two-thirds of the number of persons to be chosen; they shall be compensated only by fixed salaries, to be paid by said county; and shall exercise such jurisdiction, civil and criminal, except as herein provided, as is now exercised by aldermen, subject to such changes, not involving an increase of civil jurisdiction or conferring political duties, as may be made by law. In Philadelphia the office of alderman is abolished," so as to read as follows:—

In Philadelphia there shall be established, for each thirty thousand inhabitants, one court, not of record, of police and civil causes, with jurisdiction not exceeding one hundred dollars; such courts shall be held by magistrates whose term of office shall be six years, and they shall be elected on general ticket at the municipal election, by the qualified voters at large; and in the election of the said magistrates no voter shall vote for more than two-thirds of the number of persons to be elected when more than one are to be chosen; they shall be compensated only by fixed salaries, to be paid by said county; and shall exercise such jurisdiction, civil and criminal, except as herein provided, as is now exercised by aldermen, subject to such changes, not involving an increase of civil jurisdiction or conferring political duties, as may be made by law. In Philadelphia the office of alderman is abolished.

Amendment Five—To Article Eight, Section Two.

Section 6. Amend section two of article eight, which reads as follows:—

"The general election shall be held annually on the Tuesday next following the first Monday of November, but the General Assembly may by law fix a different day, two-thirds of all the members of each House consenting thereto," so as to read:—

The general election shall be held biennially on the Tuesday next following the first Monday of November in each even-numbered year, but the General Assembly may by law fix a different day, two-thirds of all the members of each House consenting thereto; provided, That such election shall always be held in an even-numbered year.

Amendment Six—To Article Eight, Section Three.

Section 7. Amend section three of article eight, which reads as follows:—

"All elections for city, ward, borough and township officers, for regular terms of service, shall be held on the third Tuesday of February," so as to read:—

All judges elected by the electors of the State at large may be elected at either a general or municipal election, as circumstances may require. All elections for judges of the courts for the several judicial districts, and for county, city, ward, borough, and township officers for regular terms of service, shall be held on the municipal election day; namely, the Tuesday next following the first Monday of November in each odd-numbered year, but the General Assembly may by law fix a different day, two-thirds of all the members of each House consenting thereto; provided, That such election shall always be held in an odd-numbered year.

Amendment Seven—To Article Eight, Section Fourteen.

Section 8. Amend section fourteen of article eight, which reads as follows:—

"District election boards shall consist of a judge and two inspectors, who shall be chosen annually by the citizens. Each elector shall have the right to vote for the judge and one inspector, and each inspector shall appoint one clerk. The first election board for any new district shall be selected, and vacancies in election boards filled, as shall be provided by law. Election officers shall be privileged from arrest upon days of election, and while engaged in making up and transmitting returns, except upon warrant of a court of record or judge thereof, for an election fraud, for felony, or for wanton breach of the peace. In cities they may claim exemption from jury duty during their terms of service," so as to read:—

District election boards shall consist of a judge and two inspectors, who shall be chosen biennially by the citizens at the municipal election; but the General Assembly may require said boards to be appointed in such manner as it may by law provide. Laws regulating the appointment of said boards may be enacted to apply to cities only; provided, That such laws be uniform for cities of the same class. Each elector shall have the right to vote for the judge and one inspector, and each inspector shall appoint one clerk. The first election board for any new district shall be selected, and vacancies in election boards filled, as shall be provided by law. Election officers shall be privileged from arrest upon days of election, and while engaged in making up and transmitting returns, except upon warrant of a court of record, or judge thereof, for an election fraud, for felony, or for wanton breach of the peace. In cities they may claim exemption from jury duty during their terms of service.

Amendment Eight—To Article Twelve, Section One.

Section 9. Amend section one, article twelve, which reads as follows:—

"All officers, whose selection is not provided for in this Constitution, shall be elected or appointed as may be directed by law," so as to read:—

All officers, whose selection is not provided for in this Constitution, shall be elected or appointed as may be directed by law; provided, That elections of State officers shall be held on a general election day, and elections of local officers shall be held on a municipal election day, except when, in either case, special elections may be required to fill unexpired terms.

Amendment Nine—To Article Fourteen, Section Two.

Section 10. Amend section two of article fourteen, which reads as follows:—

"County officers shall be elected at the general elections and shall hold their offices for the term of three years beginning on the first Monday of January next after their election, and until their successors shall be duly qualified; all vacancies shall be filled in such manner as may be provided by law," so as to read:—

County officers shall be elected at the municipal elections and shall hold their offices for the term of four years, beginning on the first Monday of January next after their election, and until their successors shall be duly qualified; all vacancies shall be filled in such manner as may be provided by law.

Amendment Ten—To Article Fourteen, Section Seven.

Section 11. Amend section seven, article fourteen, which reads as follows:—

"Three county commissioners shall be elected in each county where such officers are chosen, in the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy-five and every third year thereafter; and in the election of said officers each qualified elector shall vote for no more than two persons, and the three persons having the highest number of votes shall be elected; any casual vacancy in the office of county commissioner or county auditor shall be filled, by the court of common pleas of the county in which such vacancy shall occur, by the appointment of an elector of the proper county who shall have voted for the commissioner or auditor whose place is to be filled," so as to read:—

Three county commissioners and three county auditors shall be elected in each county where such officers are chosen, in the year one thousand nine hundred and eleven and every fourth year thereafter; and in the election of said officers each qualified elector shall vote for no more than two persons, and the three persons having the highest number of votes shall be elected; any casual vacancy in the office of county commissioner or county auditor shall be filled by the court of common pleas of the county in which such vacancy shall occur, by the appointment of an elector of the proper county who shall have voted for the commissioner or auditor whose place is to be filled.

Schedule for the Amendments.

Section 12. That no inconvenience may arise from the changes in the Constitution of the Commonwealth, and in order to carry the same into complete operation, it is hereby declared that:—

In the case of officers elected by the people, all terms of office fixed by act of Assembly at an odd number of years shall each be lengthened one year, but the Legislature may change the length of the term, provided the terms for which such officers are elected shall always be for an even number of years.

The above extension of official terms shall not affect officers elected at the general election of one thousand nine hundred and eight; nor any city, ward, borough, township, or election division officers, whose terms of office, under existing law, end in the year one thousand nine hundred and ten.

In the year one thousand nine hundred and ten the municipal election shall be held on the third Tuesday of February, as heretofore; but all officers chosen at that election to an office the regular term of which is two years, and also all election officers and assessors chosen at that election, shall serve until the first Monday of December in the year one thousand nine hundred and eleven. All officers chosen at that election to offices the term of which is now four years, or is made four years by the operation of these amendments or this schedule, shall serve until the first Monday of December in the year one thousand nine hundred and thirteen. All justices of the peace, magistrates, and aldermen, chosen at that election, shall serve until the first Monday of December in the year one thousand nine hundred and fifteen. After the year nineteen hundred and ten, and until the Legislature shall otherwise provide, all terms of city, ward, borough, township, and election division officers shall begin on the first Monday of December in an odd-numbered year.

All city, ward, borough, and township officers holding office at the date of the approval of these amendments, whose terms of office may end in the year one thousand nine hundred and eleven, shall continue to hold their offices until the first Monday of December of that year.

All judges of the courts for the several judicial districts, and also all county officers, holding office at the date of the approval of these amendments, whose terms of office may end in the year one thousand nine hundred and eleven, shall continue to hold their offices until the first Monday of January, one thousand nine hundred and twelve.

SIGNS OF REVOLT IN REPUBLICAN CAMP

Former Speaker McClain Declined to Talk For Ticket.

THE FAITHFUL ALARMED

Nomination of Stober Has Not Mollified the Lancaster Republicans or Appeased the Just Wrath of the "Red Rose" of That County.

Among the orators of Pennsylvania who were expected to participate in the opening of the Republican campaign at Allentown last week, Frank B. McClain, of Lancaster, was conspicuous. Mr. McClain was speaker of the house of representatives at Harrisburg during the session of 1907. The political upheaval following the iniquities of the session of 1905 had admonished the machine managers that it was necessary to make at least a pretense of improvement, and Mr. McClain was made speaker as a concession to the decent element of his party.

Speaker McClain is known variously as the "Silver-Tongued Representative" and the "Red Rose of Lancaster." A man of good impulses and gifted with oratorical powers of exceptional merit, he is greatly in demand on the "stump." It was said at the time that the nomination of J. A. Stober for state treasurer was more for the purpose of enlisting the active help of McClain in the campaign than to honor Stober. There is a tradition that Lancasterians hold together under all circumstances, and it was believed that the nomination of a Lancaster man, however bad, would guarantee the services of McClain.

Events have proved that this expectation has been disappointed, however. Mr. McClain was invited to be the principal orator at the opening meeting, which is regarded as the most important of the campaign. That honor is usually bestowed on Penrose himself, and it is said that he coveted it. But exigencies this year suggested that it be used as a bait for Frank McClain. But it didn't work. On the day of the meeting he failed to appear, and his absence was explained by a statement that he had been called to Pittsburgh on unavoidable legal business.

As a matter of fact Mr. McClain is not a lawyer and had no legal or any other kind of business in Pittsburgh on the day of the Allentown meeting. He wasn't in Pittsburgh at all on that day, but was quietly pursuing his own affairs at home, the contemplation of the consternation in Allentown on account of his absence, no doubt, being a considerable source of enjoyment to him. The following Harrisburg dispatch, published in the Philadelphia Record the day after the meeting, gives the real reason for McClain's absence from Allentown:

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 11. There is trouble in the Republican political camp—not only trouble, but revolt. The manner in which the dictators of the organization rode rough-shod over the opponents of John F. Cox, for speaker of the house, and lashed the friends of Frank B. McClain, of Lancaster, may have some effect on the campaign this year.

It will be remembered that to modify Lancaster county for the turning down of McClain the last Republican state convention nominated ex-Senator Stober, from Lancaster county, for state treasurer. This was not only to mollify Lancaster county, but to bring McClain, a plain-spoken man, back into the fold and secure his services on the stump. McClain, however, has not given the least hint that he is reconciled to the situation. It is said that he is still nursing under the punishment inflicted on him at the organization of the last house, when he departed from a time-honored custom and refused to give him a second term as speaker.

Among the speakers announced for the Republican gathering near Allentown today was McClain, but he was not present. McClain was in Harrisburg yesterday, and told some of his friends that he did not propose to attend the Allentown meeting today. This is all the more significant, as both Stober, the candidate for auditor general, and Stober, of Lancaster, the Republican candidate for state treasurer, were at the meeting and opened the campaign, after a manner.

In expressing his determination not to take part in the campaign the former speaker was very emphatic, and, despite the fact that his county supplied the candidate for state treasurer, the "Red Rose of Lancaster" will not lift his silver-tongued voice in behalf of the ticket this year. And the question is being asked whether there are many more like McClain in the state.

President Taft said in his brief speech at Springfield, Mass., on Wednesday, that the people had voted $25,000 "for traveling expenses." That was inaccurate. The people don't like laws and the organic law of Congress voted that money and putting it in the president's pocket. The chief magistrate of a great nation ought to be more careful in speech.

The Philadelphia machine is trying to stuff the registry list with as much zeal as it used to stuff the ballot boxes. But the people are wise to the conditions and the harvest will be a full jail.

MR. MUNSON ENDORSED

Williamsport Board of Trade Recommends Democratic Candidate For Election.

The character of a man is invariably expressed by his reputation at home. One who enjoys the confidence of his neighbors to the full measure is certain to be a man in whom others may confide. People are gauged accurately by those who are in daily association with them, and in the action of his social and business associates there is guarantee of the merit of C. La Rue Munson, the Democratic nominee for justice of the supreme court.

At a meeting of the board of trade of Williamsport the other evening the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the Williamsport board of trade, acting solely in a non-partisan way, and irrespective of politics, recommend the election of C. La Rue Munson as a justice of the supreme court, knowing him to have every qualification for that position, and particularly calling the attention of the business men of Pennsylvania to his long and active connection with a number of important manufacturing concerns and his practical knowledge and wide experience in commercial affairs, making him peculiarly well fitted to pass upon the many important questions which concern the interests of the business men of Pennsylvania.

The Quay Monument.

The board of public grounds and buildings at Harrisburg has declined to take action in the matter of the Quay statue, and by resolution adopted at its recent meeting referred the subject to and shifted responsibility upon the Quay monument commission. This was neither courageous nor consistent. The act of assembly provides that the board of public grounds and buildings and the statue commission shall select the site on the capitol grounds for the monument. As there is not and never has been a monument commission, the board of public grounds and buildings has simply dodged its own obligations by referring them to a body which has no existence. That is not creditable.

The constitution requires that all such appointments by the governor shall be confirmed by the state senate, and in the absence of such ratification there can be no valid appointment. The senate never confirmed the nomination of David H. Lane, J. Donald Cameron and Samuel Moody as commissioners to procure a statue of Quay or anybody else, and those gentlemen had no authority of law to contract for such an effigy. Having done so, however, in the absence of authority, the fiscal officers of the state ought to have refused payment. As this was not done, the only right course left for the board of public buildings and grounds was to emphatically refuse to desecrate the capitol or park with it.

Senator Quay never performed any valuable service for the people of Pennsylvania. He looted the treasury, debauched the politics and corrupted the public life of the commonwealth, and if he hadn't pleaded the statute of limitations to secure immunity from punishment for his crimes he probably would have died in jail or as a fugitive from justice. To hold the effigy of such a moral degenerate up to future generations as a type of the citizenship of Pennsylvania is an insult to the intelligence and an outrage upon the consciences of the people. But in cowardly evasion of an obvious duty the board of public grounds and buildings has paved the way to this disgraceful result.

A Call Upon Frick and Carnegie.

The statue of Matthew Stanley Quay remains unplaced by the ungrateful Pennsylvanians. Will not Mr. Frick and Mr. Carnegie combine to buy a site for it in some pleasant corner of Pittsburgh, if such there be, where it sprang from the blossoms of the pit? The people may fall upon it as, wafted by the gentle winds, the rose-leaves flutter over the tomb of Omar the Tent-maker in Nishapur?—New York World.

Study the proposed constitutional amendments. The proposition to give the Pennsylvania legislature the right to fix the manner of "appointing election officers." The constitution now provides for their election by the people. The proposed amendment would confer upon the legislature the authority to require that they be "appointed." Suppose the legislature would require that they be appointed by a commission consisting of Jim Mc-Niebol, Dave Lane and Sam Saiter, for Republican state committee or by a commission headed by Sam Saiter.

The people of Philadelphia can easily elect Clarence Gibbons to the office of district attorney if they only indicate an inclination to favor the same sort of men for other offices. It is as important that honest men be in the offices of auditor general and state treasurer as that the district attorney of Philadelphia be honest. This is a time for honest men to pull together for honesty in all branches of the public service.

Speaker Cannon represents his party, and if he is lax in morals it is because his party prefers people of that sort. No stream is purer than its fountain or more impure. Cannon is foul-mouthed, but he is the ideal of his party, and there is no reason why he should change his methods of life or terms of expression.

The settlement of the Pressed Steel Car strike didn't last even until the election. The tariff-pampered bogs who control that enterprise, couldn't be fair to labor even for political purposes.

MOST INQUITOUS PLAN TO USURP POWER

Dangerous "Joker" in One of Proposed Constitutional Amendments.

SLAKE THAT OUGHT TO BE KILLED

Proposed Amendment Number Seven Would Deprive the People of the Right to Vote For Election Officers and Give the Legislature Opportunity to Debauch Elections and Manipulate Returns at Will.

Citizens who favor honest politics and just government have grave reasons to be alarmed on account of the provisions of one of the proposed amendments to the constitution. It is a palpable attempt upon the part of the machine legislature to deprive them of one of their most important political rights. If adopted the people of the cities will no longer enjoy the privilege of selecting their own election officers by ballot. They will be appointed by the machine "in such manner" as the machine legislature "may by law provide."

Section 14, article 8, of the constitution of Pennsylvania reads as follows:

Section 14. District election boards shall consist of a judge and two inspectors, who shall be chosen annually by the citizens. Each elector shall have the right to vote for one judge and one inspector, and each inspector shall appoint one clerk. The first election board for any new district shall be selected, and vacancies in election boards filled, as shall be provided by law. Election officers shall be privileged from arrest upon days of election, and while engaged in making up and transmitting returns, except upon warrant of a court of record or a judge thereof, for an election fraud, for felony, or for wanton breach of the peace. In cities they may claim exemption from jury duty during their terms of service.

The proposed amendment reads as follows:

Section 14. District election boards shall consist of a judge and two inspectors, who shall be chosen biennially by the citizens, at the municipal elections; but the general assembly may require said boards to be appointed in such manner as it may by law provide. Laws regulating the appointment of said boards may be enacted to apply to cities only. Provided, That such laws be uniform for cities of the same class. Each elector shall have the right to vote for the judge and one inspector, and each inspector shall appoint one clerk. The first election board for any new district shall be selected, and vacancies in election boards filled as shall be provided by law. Election officers shall be privileged from arrest upon days of election, and while engaged in making up and transmitting returns, except upon warrant of a court of record or judge thereof, for an election fraud, for felony, or for wanton breach of the peace. In cities they may claim exemption from jury duty during their terms of service.

It will be noticed that the only difference between the sections as presently worded and that which it is proposed to substitute is the language emphasized in the above quotation. Obviously the intent of the legislators who conceived and proposed this amendment hoped to deceive the people by the similarity of expression into an indifference on the subject. The original provision and the proposed amendment begin and end alike, but they are vastly different. The amendment applies only to cities, it is true, but it applies to all cities and will give the machine legislature absolute control over so large a proportion of the total vote that it would be utterly impossible to counteract the frauds which might easily be projected and perpetrated.

It is hardly necessary to speak of the manner of appointing election boards in the cities which the machine legislature would adopt in the event that this power was conferred upon it by an amendment of the constitution. The legislatures of 1903 or 1905 would, in all probability, have appointed a commission consisting of Jim Mc-Niebol, Dave Lane and Sam Saiter, for Philadelphia, and men of the same type for other cities of the state, to appoint the election boards. Or it might authorize the Republican state committee to appoint them for all cities. There is absolutely no provision for restraint of the partisanship in the legislature in the event that such a proposition is introduced into the constitution.

The Williamsport Sun, in discussing this question, says:

It is doubtful whether in the history of Pennsylvania as bold an attempt to usurp the people's right and delegate the same to a political party was ever made as is now being attempted by a machine Republican legislature in one of the proposed amendments to the constitution to be voted upon at the November election. Fortunately the attempt has been unmasked in time to frustrate its fruition. The amendment in question is that pertaining to the election of district election boards, intending to make the same appointive instead of elective, thus compelling the people to surrender the most important political right they possess, and to part with a safeguard which really lies at the very source of liberty. As it appears upon the ballot to be voted in November the amendment is number seven.

INSECT FRIENDS OF FARM

ONE THAT FEEDS UPON AND DESTROYS TREE BORERS.

Dentistry as Applied to Trees in the Removal of Decayed Portions—Bark Beetles.

An insect, slightly resembling the dragon fly, was received at the Division of Zoology of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture by State Zoologist Surface, accompanied by a letter having the name attached of a prominent Luzerne county physician, who wrote: "The enclosed specimen is highly destructive to my maple-had trees kindly inform me what to do."

The specimen proved to be a Thalesia, which State Zoologist Surface pronounced "a destroyer of other insects, and, especially, of some of the worst enemies of trees." In this respect it is like the lady bug, which feeds upon the San Jose scale. The Thalesia has long antennae and a tail composed of three black hairs, like those of a horse's tail, each about three inches long. These form a long tube which it inserts in the holes made in trees by borers, and having encountered a borer it deposits its eggs in or near it. These eggs develop larvae which feed upon the borer and destroy it. Owners of fruit and shade trees, instead of destroying the Thalesia, should protect and preserve this useful insect.

Dentistry as Applied to Trees.

State Zoologist Surface found a letter in the mail sent to the Division of Zoology of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, asking how to prevent decay in a tree from making further progress. The writer said: "We have a cherry tree whose trunk has rotted considerably. What can be done to save the tree? Is it a good plan to cut out the dead part and fill up the hole with cement?"

Professor Surface replied: "The proper treatment for the cavity of your cherry tree is to clean this out, removing the decayed wood; then wash or spray the interior with an antiseptic, such as a two per cent. solution of formalin, or a very dilute solution of mercury bichloride, which is corrosive and sublimated; then paint it with ordinary paint of any kind, and finally fill the cavity with any kind of cement, or use one part of Portland cement with about four or five parts of sand."

"This is practically nothing else than the principle of modern dentistry applied to the preservation of the tree. The dentist cleans out the cavity of a decaying tooth, applies an antiseptic to prevent further decay, and fills the tooth with some substance that by preservation will prevent the possibility of further decay. We are coming to see that the treatment of all living things for ill and afflictions is based upon the same fundamental biological principle."

Bark Beetles in Trees

Specimen twigs of fruit trees reached the Division of Zoology of the department of Agriculture, Harrisburg, from Cambridge Springs, Pa., which the sender supposed were infested with San Jose scale. State Zoologist Surface, in acknowledging their receipt, gave the following information as to the cause of their badly appearing condition:

"We find that the pear twigs are infested with scolytids or bark beetles, which are boring in the dead wood beneath the bark. They have not caused the death of these twigs, but they are there because the twigs are dead and afford favorable places for the beetles to live. It is probably that the pear twigs died by blight, and that the beetles came later. There is nothing to do but to cut out the dead and dying parts, and burn them promptly. For all cases of blight cut out and burn the blighted parts."

THE PATRIOTISM

Bruce needed. "Same reason. His mother in law that he shall vote the ticket that his father always did, and his conscience won't let him. He says conditions are different now. So he doesn't vote at all."

"I think he's somewhat tied to his mother's apron strings," Penelope's voice was scornful. "Little sister"—Bruce's steady gaze made her flush deeply—"if you knew what Oswald's mother had done for him, the sacrifices she made that he might go to college! She cannot live many months now, the nurse says, so I feel that he is right, even if she is wrong to demand it."

And after that Penelope fled to her room and thought it over. What a little prig she had been to call him a coward! He was braver than—why, he was the bravest man in the whole world to face the world's scorn for his mother's sake.

And even as she thought it she resolved that she would tell him at once. It was late, and beneath the dull gray clouds in the west was the line of deep orange where the sun had set.

Far down the street she could see the light in Oswald's office, and toward that light when she had slipped on her raincoat and hat she made her way.

Her timid knock brought her lover to the door. "Penelope!" he stammered when he saw her.

"Yes"—she flitted past him and dropped into the big chair in front of the fire—"I've come to make up."

She was smiling up at him, but there came no answering smile. "I want you to forgive me," she faltered.

"For calling me a coward?" There was a bitter note in his voice. "I—I understand now that it was because of your mother that you didn't go."

"You had to be told that?" he asked sternly. "No belief in me brought you here until you had proof—oh, Penelope!"

"You should have told me, Oswald." "After your distrust, no."

There was so much of faultiness in his tone that she stood up trembling. "Then there's nothing else to say," she murmured and went to the door, a little forlorn figure in her gray rain coat and soft felt hat.

Then suddenly she wheeled and came back. "Oswald," she said and stood in front of him, confessing like a child, "I love you. I ask you to forgive me."

He was very white. "No," he said. "Oh," she reproached him, "a brave soldier forgives his enemy!"

"You have told me that I am not a brave soldier."

"You are the man I want to marry," she said.

"I am?" His lips were set in a grim line. He came up to her and caught her hands almost roughly in his. "Then if you marry me you shall owe allegiance to your husband."

"What do you mean?" tremulously. "Say what I tell you," he commanded. "I love you, Oswald, more than home or friends or country."

And, with white lips, she repeated it. And then he took her in his arms tenderly. "Little girl, little girl," he whispered, "forgive me for hurting you, but a man has his pride."

"I know," she whispered back, her eyes shining, "a man has his pride, especially a brave man like you, Oswald."
